The vapor bath is another feature of the shop and last, though not least here is Barber Hughes the smooth shaver and jollier. He is a cure for the blues.

TRIPLE KILLING IN PHENIX

THE WELL KNOWN SALOON MAN, RHODES, ONE OF THE VICTIMS.

Drunk and Race Prejudice Stir up a Big Fight in Which Three Deaths Result at Phenix. Full and Authentic Account of the Tragedy.

The citizens of Eddy were startled Sunday morning by the report that a triple killing had occurred at the town of Phenix to the south of Eddy about a mile and a half, and that Argyle Rhodes was one of the victims. The current immediately set to work to learn the facts in the case and from eye witnesses, secured the following: At about 2:30 Sunday morning Nov. 15, at the saloon of Barfield & Fee in Phenix were congregated about twenty or thirty people, Mexicans and Americans. A difficulty occurred between Ed. Collins, one of the attaches of the saloon, and a Mexican named Bruno Nunes, Collins undertaking to eject the Mexican from the saloon. While this was taking place, it is alleged by Collins, that Bruno drew a knife, when George Fee who was watching the affair shot the Mexican. This started a general racket and all the Mexicans were run out of the saloon, Bruno walking as far as the railway before falling; he was found to be wounded in three places, through the body, groin and side; he lived until Monday evening, dying in fearful agony. He was a young man of about twenty-four from Pecos, in Lincoln county. Andreas Calderon another Mexican was shot dead in his tracks in front of the saloon, but by whom has not yet developed, and Benito Baca was shot in the knee from the effects of which he will probably lose his leg. After the saloon was cleared Mr. A. Rhodes who was sleeping was called. He got up and dressed and went into the bar room. This was all of twenty minutes after the room was cleared. Rhodes went in behind the bar to get a drink of water, Ed. Collins being behind the bar at the time, Geo. Fee being outside the bar. Just at this time a shot was fired into the open door in the front of the saloon, followed quickly by another. The first shot is said to have struck Rhodes on the left side of the head passing through back and above the ears, coming out on the right side; Rhodes fell like a log on his face, his head at the west end of the bar, his brains and blood running all over the saloon floor. Collins went around to the end of the bar and squatted down to keep out of the way of the bullets, which were coming in from a Winchester in the hands of some person on the railway track, north of the wagon crossing. Fee jumped behind an iron safe, after the first shot, being armed with a six-shooter, calmly waiting for a rush on the saloon, which he expected every moment. Five electric lights were burning brightly in the saloon, while outside all was dark, the moon having set at about two o'clock. The party or parties who were shooting into the saloon fired four shots the effects of which are visible and then for want of ammunition, probably, quit, and the inmates of the place sent for the officers.

After daylight Justice Roberts empaneled a coroners jury and held inquests on the bodies of the dead. Later in the day about a dozen Mexicans were arrested. Tranquillino Espejo was arrested Monday charged with the murder of Rhodes, with Juan Larra as an accomplice and equally guilty. Fee was arrested and waived examination in the case for the shooting of Nunes and was bound over in the sum of $2,000 to appear before the grand jury. He was also charged with the murder of Andreas Calderon, his examining trial being held yesterday.

The death of Mr. Argyle Rhodes is generally regretted, he being a kindly, big-hearted, whole-souled fellow without an enemy in the world, it being evident the shot he received was intended for Fee. Mr. Rhodes was born in Springfield, Mo. June 30, 1854, being therefore forty-two years old last June. He went to Tom Green county, Texas, in 1872 for his health, being a walking skeleton, from consumption. He lived near San Angelo until 1889, working on sheep and cattle ranches, arriving here the fall of that year. He was a side partner of Wm. Barfield, the two being associated in business, one way and another for ten years. Rhodes was never, previous to coming here engaged in the sale of liquor. The last six or seven years he had become very fleshy, at the time of death weighing 283 pounds. His relatives are three brothers, respected citizens of Missouri near the Arkansas line, two of whom are in the milling business. The funeral of Rhodes occurred Monday and was well attended.

Starting the Machinery.

The starting up of the machinery of the beet sugar manufactory was a success, and nothing but a success. At precisely eleven-forty in the morning last Saturday, Mrs. Arthur Goetz set in motion the first engine for the first time. Then Mrs. Musy, Miss des Gorges, Miss Doepf, Mrs. Shreve and Miss Florence Goetz in the order named pulled the levers of their respective engines, which from that time took the names of the fair ladies whose light touches made them live.

Not a hitch of any kind occurred, nor a stop for a moment. Every part of the high machinery worked to a charm. Had the ponderous combination of cogs and wheels been running ten years there could no better show have been made.

To the continued painstaking care of Mr. Saleh, the constructing and directing engineer, of Mr. Musy, the general superintendent and to the intelligent co-operation of their subordinates, this result, so auspicious to the welfare of the Pecos Valley, is due.

Judge Hamilton will be here next Tuesday to hear a few cases in chambers.

Holt. Hall from the Gaudalupes is in town.

Henry Welden returned from Santa Fe Thursday.

E. O. Faulkner returned from his eastern trip yesterday.

Zack Woods, of Hope paid Eddy a visit last Wednesday.

Mr. Hines from the Badger settlement was in town Thursday.

Mr. Lazear, the bank examiner is still with us. Receiver Rogers is expected daily.

W. F. Cochran, our assessor, and T. B. Gordon went out last Saturday for a hunt in the mountains.

Bob Hardin came back from a trip to the Gaudalupes Wednesday. While away he and Miles Stone managed to drop three deer.

C. C. Harrison president of the university of Pennsylvania is expected here with a party for a stay of a couple of days next week.

P. F. Blodgett general superintendent of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Ry. was at Hotel Windsor a few days the past week with his wife and daughter. The ladies will reside at the hotel the coming winter to test the climate for their health.

Dr. McLenthen, of Brooklyn N. Y. departed for his home by Tuesday evening's train. He has been visiting his brother, C. H. McLenthen for more than a month. The doctor has seen the valley in its most variable moods, there having been floods, winds and sunshine galore during his stay, despite all of which he left with a good impression of our superb climate.

Thanksgiving Evening.

At the beautiful residence of Dr. A. R. Smith, on Thursday evening, Nov. 25, the ladies of the W. P. & H. M. Society will celebrate their first social gathering, entertaining their friends with topics of general conversation, music and refreshments. This will be a good hour. The spacious parlor, to which all are most cordially invited, will glow with brightness of attending lights, approximating that of day. The bright joyous faces, sparkling wit, brilliant thought, and merry laughter of these noble christian ladies, under the kind, hospitable management of the amiable hostess, will most assuredly cure instantaneously any despicible lingering, which might have originated from the holiday turkey. I'm glad these ladies gave me a special invitation, not because of any anticipation of despicible cure, nor for the "trumping" of the piano which will echo through the amber foliage to be wafted away on the balmy breezes of the Pecos air nor for the delicious refreshments served with that promptness and elegance for which these ladies are so justly celebrated; but because of the privilege—and this will be given all—of making a free-will offering. It being more blessed to give than to receive. These ladies extend a warm, hearty invitation to all, hoping you will accept and share with them their generous hospitality, thus contributing by your presence and smiles to the success of the evening, and if you feel so inclined, make a free will offering.

P. K.

The Athenaeum Association gave a concert last Monday evening. The principal participants were: Col. Haylor, Dr. Waidachmidt, E. M. Skeats, Mr. McCarthy, orchestra, Mrs. Skeats pianist; Mrs. I. D. T. Smith, Miss Shreve, Byron Fields, vocalists; Mrs. Shreve recitation, Miss Haylor, guitar. Mrs. Shreve made the hit of the evening in the recitation of "Zingarella" though all were encored again and again, even to Mr. A. S. Goetz, whose straightening of the piano cover was the occasion of a loud recall. The entertainment was for the very laudable purpose of securing funds to erect a suitable memorial monument to W. A. Miller, to whose untiring efforts the success of the Athenaeum is very largely due. The association desires to express its gratitude to the public for the liberal patronage bestowed on its initial endeavor in this line.

MONEY IS SCARCE

THAT IS TRUE.

But not more so here than it is in other localities. We have been fortunate in having money enough to pay

SPOT CASH

For our purchases in buying our fall and winter stock, and went to market with the cash in hand.

MONEY IS SCARCE IN NEW YORK.

We took advantage of this fact and have bought the CHEAPEST if not the largest stock we have ever brought to the Valley. These goods are arriving every day, and our large and roomy store building is now FULL TO THE DOORS with everything that goes to make up a well-selected stock of DRY GOODS, Etc.

Our prices are in accordance with the times, and A DOLLAR will go much further in our store than it ever would before.

Come and See the Pretty Fall Styles

In every line—prettier and cheaper than ever before. Don't take our word for it. Come and see for yourself.

One of Walker Bush's horses ran away with the rim of the wheel of Mayor Lavery's road wagon to which it had been hitched, last Saturday. The animal succeeded in getting as far as the corner of Fox and Canon streets, when the rope with the rim of the wheel attached, caught around the body of a cottonwood tree, bringing the pony up suddenly and throwing it, so forcibly as to cause its death, by breaking its neck, it only surviving a moment after falling.
